II. PURPOSE OF THE STAR CODE

It is the policy of Star to conduct its business in an honest and ethical manner, as well as in compliance with the laws applicable to the jurisdiction in which business is being done. This can only be done through the participation and efforts of the people that make up Star and not merely through the issuance of guideline documents. Star employees are not only expected to follow the Star Code and applicable laws in doing their work, but also to ask questions and raise concerns when they are not sure that something is not in keeping with maintaining a corporate culture of which we can all be proud.

The Star Code is a corporate statement memorializing how we conduct business. When you have questions you should seek advice from your supervisor, your manager or from the Star Compliance Officer at Compliance@starequity.com, from Human Resources at HR@starequity.com or call the Star Integrity hotline at (800) 461-9330, or visit Integrity.StarEquity.com. This code is more than a statement of Company policy on business conduct and ethical behavior, it provides you our cultural standards in a way that will make you feel comfortable reporting any code violations and make you feel proud to be part of the Star team.

III. POLICY STATEMENT

We conduct our business in an honest and ethical fashion. This requires the commitment and dedication of every employee to follow Company policies and procedures and applicable federal, state and local laws and regulations, and to maintain the highest standards of conduct not only in our dealings with fellow employees, but with others we contact as part of our respective jobs. Ultimately, this will help foster and preserve a culture of ownership, accountability, integrity and team.

IV. PEOPLE AND WORKPLACE

We will not unlawfully discriminate against anyone on the basis of race, religion, creed, color, national origin, sex, sexual orientation, disability, marital status, partner status, veteran status or the presence of a disability.

A. Mutual Respect

Employees are expected to treat one another, including our customers, customers patients or clients, and our vendors, with mutual respect and dignity. We believe this approach, together with an attitude that honors diversity, ultimately enriches the workplace, encourages innovation and creativity, and advances our corporate goals.

B. Discriminatory & Retaliatory Behavior

Harassment or employment decisions made based on race, religion, creed, color, national origin, sex, sexual orientation, marital status, veteran status or the presence of a disability, or any other protected status or any other unlawful reason are strictly prohibited. Similarly, no employee, including Company officers, may discharge, demote, suspend, threaten, harass or in any manner discriminate against any employee in the terms and conditions of employment based upon any lawful actions of such employee who in good faith report, provide information, file, testify or otherwise assist in an investigation with respect to any conduct that violates this Star Code, any other corporate policy or the law. Everyone engaging in Star business is expected to comply with all applicable employment laws.

C. Privacy

Related to the standard of mutual respect is privacy. Each employee and the Company must respect the privacy of others within appropriate boundaries; for example, access to personal files is limited to authorized employees and vendors and only for legitimate business purposes.

D. Safety and Health

The safety of our employees and customers is our highest concern. We are committed to providing each employee a safe and healthy work environment. In turn, each employee is responsible for maintaining a safe and healthy workplace by following safety and health rules, reporting any unsafe conditions, accidents and injuries.

E. Company Assets

Employees and contractors have a responsibility to protect and maintain our equipment and supplies. Equipment and supplies should be used responsibly and carefully and only in furtherance of the purpose for which they are provided – to facilitate the performance of work for Star. Similarly, the time for which any employee or consultant seeks compensation from the Company must only be time that was actually spent performing work for Star. You must report any damage, vandalism, misuse or theft in a timely and complete manner.

V. GENERAL BUSINESS CONDUCT AND PRACTICES

A. Competitive Business Relationships

Star seeks to outperform its competition fairly and honestly. We seek competitive advantages through superior performance, not unethical or illegal business practices. Each employee must endeavor to deal fairly with our customers, vendors and our competitors.

1. Sales of our Products & Services

It is part of the Star Code to sell our products and services on their own merits and the strength of our Company. No employee or vendor is authorized to make any warranty or representation about our products and services other than those provided in the most recent Company-released marketing and sales materials and customer contract. Claims with respect to medical or technical capabilities or standards must be in compliance with federal and state law, and therefore, must be approved by the appropriate supervisor, generally an executive level manager.

2. Competitive Products & Services

Employees, including our sales, marketing, billing, and customer service vendors are to avoid making comments about our competitors that are not based on factual data, subject to any obligations of confidentiality that we may have with respect to that data. For example, no claims should be made about a competitor's product that is not contained in the competitor's published materials or in factual materials approved by the Company to be used for the purposes of sales and marketing. Employees should be careful in this regard in commenting upon the character, financial condition, or potential regulatory problems of competitors.

3. Contractual Interference

It is prohibited for anyone representing Star to encourage a potential customer or other party (such as a vendor) to breach a contract with a competitor or to provide legal advice with respect to the terms and conditions of that party's contract with a customer.

4. Vendors

While it is our goal to enter into vendor relationships that are beneficial to the business interest of Star, we must take extra care to not take advantage of vendors or potential vendors through abuse of information that was wrongfully obtained, through misrepresentation of material facts or generally through unfair dealing.

5. Relationships with Competitors

Anti-trust, fair competition, truth-in-advertising and other laws limit what and how Star can behave with respect to their competitors. The key focus of all of these laws is to limit harm to consumers. Accordingly, no Star employee, contractor or other agent may enter into arrangements, whether domestic or international, with competitors that could unfairly reduce competition or otherwise harm consumers, such as fixing prices, allocating markets or boycotting suppliers or customers. Violation of these laws can result in very severe penalties including imprisonment.

If you are in a meeting and one of these arises, please insist that the discussion immediately cease or dismiss yourself from the meeting. If you encounter a situation where you think there may be a potential issue that breaches Star's legal obligation to adhere to anti-trust laws, contact the Compliance Officer or report it to the compliance hot line via phone or online before any action takes place so the matter can be fully discussed and evaluated.

When submitting concerns, please provide as much detailed information as possible to assist us in effectively investigating the complaint. This is particularly important when you submit a complaint on an anonymous basis, since we will be unable to contact you with requests for additional information or clarification.

We are providing these anonymous reporting procedures so that you may disclose genuine concerns without feeling threatened. Employees who choose to identify themselves when submitting a report may be contacted in order to gain additional information. Any allegations that are knowingly false or without a reasonable belief in the truth and accuracy of such information will be viewed as a serious disciplinary offense.

If you believe an exception to the Star Code's requirements is warranted, you must contact your supervisor. If your supervisor agrees, the Compliance Officer must be consulted for appropriate investigation and approval. If the request involves an officer or director, then the Audit Committee of the board of directors must approve. If the request for an exception is ultimately approved, it must be made in writing and the program manager will also maintain a log of the exception and the circumstances justifying it. Waivers relating to an officer and director may be required to be promptly disclosed to shareholders.

Any suggestions or proposals concerning this Star Code should be referred to your supervisor or the Compliance Officer or designee. Your recommendations and feedback are always welcomed and encouraged.

IX. EMPLOYEE RESPONSIBILITY STATEMENT

This Star Code ends where it began. Each employee has the responsibility to follow this code, and the codes can be summarized with the simple statement: "Do what is right." While it establishes certain standards of conduct, the Star Code also provides a resource to help uphold the standards. Have you seen something that troubles you? Is someone pressuring you to do something that you believe is not right? If so, this code can provide you the tools and opportunity to address your situation, as well as the security and protection to act on your concerns.

All Company employees are required to read and abide by the Star Code. In fact, abiding by its standards is a condition of your employment with the Company. Any actions that violate this code may also violate various laws and could subject the Company and even individual employees to serious legal consequences. Consequently, any employee who does not adhere to the standards of the Company's corporate ethics and compliance program or who fails to abide by applicable laws or regulations will be subject to appropriate discipline, including but not limited to immediate dismissal. Discipline also may be imposed for any supervisor who encourages or ignores violations or fails to detect a violation he or she should have detected, or for any employee who is aware of a violation of this code or the law and fails to report it in a timely fashion.

Failure to read the standards in this Star Code does not exempt an employee from his or her responsibility to comply with the code and the laws. Star has the right to amend, interpret, modify or withdraw any of the provisions of this Star Code at any time in its sole discretion, with or without advance notice. Such changes will be promptly made to the Star Policy Manual and notice will be sent via email to affected employees. Employees are expected to advise any Company agents, consultants, resellers, distributors and resellers with respect to such updates.

Nothing in this Star Code is intended to alter the "at-will" nature of your relationship with Star.

Thank you for taking the time to carefully review this code. With your assistance, we will continue to maintain the type of Company and work environment in which we all would enjoy.
