15 Describe the quantitative effect of the organizational action on the basis of the security in the hands of a U.S. taxpayer as an adjustment per share or as a percentage of old basis ▶ The issuer has estimated a deficit in current and accumulated earnings and profits as of 12/31/2024. Since the distributions are in excess of estimated current and accumulated earnings and profits, 100% of the distributions are treated as a return of capital. Return of capital will first reduce shareholder basis to the extent thereof and any portion of the distributions in excess of shareholder basis will be a capital gain to the shareholder.

16 Describe the calculation of the change in basis and the data that supports the calculation, such as the market values of securities and the valuation dates ▶ An analysis of the issuer's estimated current and accumulated earnings and profits was performed following the issuer's year ended December 31, 2024 in order to determine the portion of the distributions that constituted a dividend and the portion that constituted a non-taxable return of capital. The result of the analysis was that 100% of the distributions constituted a non-taxable return of capital.
